

Email Messages: Friday, March 20th

On Fri, Mar 20, at 3:01 AM jajohnson2@rwbccd.edu wrote:

Hi Professor!! I'm working on my paper and I have a really important question. How many pages do I have to write? The assignment directions say 8-10 pages, but I'm not sure if that includes the title page and the reference pages. Thanks so much!! 😊 Jayme Johnson

On Fri, Mar 20, at 10:10 AM lalvarez-dornan@gmail.com wrote:

Dear Professor,

My daughter, Lucinda Dornan, is in your class this semester. Cindy is really struggling. She got a D on her first exam and apparently didn't do very well on the midterm group project either. I would like to talk with you about Cindy's learning style and try to get some ideas from you about how I can help her to succeed in your course. Will you please give me a call at your convenience?

Sincerely,
Lorraine Alvarez-Dornan

On Fri, Mar 20, at 11:29 PM jjlambert2@rwbccd.edu wrote:

Hey, just a quick head's up. Have you seen this social media post? I'm attaching a screenshot here. Creepy. John

On Fri, Mar 20, at 12:15 PM msanborn@sylvan.com wrote:

Hello.

Because you seem to be avoiding my phone calls, I have decided to email you regarding my recent interview for the position of Assistant Director of Student Engagement at Green Community College. I understand that you have completed the hiring process for the position. However, I believe I was the most qualified person for the job.

Having reviewed the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, I believe that Green Community College has discriminated against me due to my age. Unless I hear from you before the end of the workday, I intend to call my attorney and begin the process of filing a lawsuit.

Have a good day.
Mark Sanborn, M. A., B. S., A. A.

On Fri, Mar 20, at 2:20 PM dwarfield@innovativelearningstrategies.com wrote:

Dear Department Chair,

In today's world of constantly changing rules and expectations, having a solid teaching plan is invaluable. Innovative Learning Strategies can provide even the most challenged instructors with a framework for delivering engaging and rigorous instruction in any subject area. Through the end of the month, we are offering a 20% discount for first-time subscriptions. Please reply with a few days and times that you would be available to discuss this opportunity further.

Sincerely,
Dionne Warfield, Sales Associate
Innovative Learning Strategies

On Fri, Mar 20, at 3:39 PM algordon@rwbccd.edu wrote:

Dear Department Chair,

I am writing to you because I don't know what to do. Eric Smith, who is a student in several of my classes, won't leave me alone. He asked me out last fall, and when I said no, he became very angry. Even four months later, he seems to be carrying a grudge against me. This semester, Eric is in two of my classes. I have tried to keep my distance from him, but today he followed me to my car after class and confronted me about something I said during a class discussion. Luckily, a friend intervened, and he left. I am afraid to return to campus next week. What should I do?

Sincerely,
Abby Gordon

On Fri, Mar 20, at 4:59 PM msanborn@sylvan.com wrote:

Hello. It is the end of the workday. Because I didn't hear from you, I am calling my attorney and filing a lawsuit for age discrimination. Have a good day. Mark Sanborn, M. A., B. S., A. A.

On Fri, Mar 20, at 5:03 PM security@socialmedia.com wrote:

To Whom It May Concern:

A social media post mentioning the name of your institution was posted on our platform this morning at 4:16 a.m. Due to the inappropriate nature of this post, we have removed it from our platform. If you have questions or concerns, please feel free to contact us during business hours.

Sincerely,

Security Services
Social Media